

Crypto Web Picks

Edition #1

Hong Kong is considering to use initial coin offerings (ICO) to boost it's economy. With this proposal, is a part of a broader plan to revitalize, the country's economy.

Find out more

ASIC Miner for Home Users

The FutureBit Apollo II is going to be available in Q1 of the next year. It is a USB based ASIC Miner for the home user.

Find out more

The popular Youtube crypto analyst "LuckSide Crypto", expects a Cardano bull run coming soon. According to his analysis, notes that a long bearish chart has been broken.

Find out more

BBC says that "Every BTC payment uses a swimming pool of water". This is misleading. In this article, the author will explain why the BBC statement is misleading.

Find out more

El Salvador is moving on with crypto adoption. From next year, the schools will introduce a new subject, This subject, will be Bitcoin.

Find out more

A new research report shed light on the Bitcoin ownership landscape. The majority of Bitcoin holders are small investors. Approximately 74% of Bitcoin addresses, hold less than 0.01 BTC.

Find out more

Beehosting.pro

Beehosting.pro, offers domains, shared hosting, website builder, cloud servers and anything you may need for online hosting. Accepts crypto payments.

Find out more

Cryptocurrency payments for insurance? With many surveys about this subject, 6% of respondents verified that their companies invest in crypto. Payments, the next step?

Find out more

Bitcoin halving, is coming next year. The reward will be halved, and less coins will come to circulation. This will have an impact on the market.

Find out more

Bitcoin, is not volatile lately. We are moving to a stability phase. We can see the price moving sideways. Are the bulls preparing for the next run?

Find out more

A Mysterious whale holds 12,070 BTC. This address, has recieved tens of millions of dollars in BTC, during the last several weeks. This is keeping on this week too.

Find out more