

Crypto Web Picks

Edition #20

What is zero-knowledge proofs?

Zero-knowledge proofs enable greater privacy and security. It is also useful for blockchain networks.

Find out more

Kenya Advances Toward Digital Asset Hub

The Blockchain Association of Kenya (BAK) is reportedly on the verge of launching a community-led draft bill.

Find out more

Argentine economic crisis spurs stablecoin adoption

Argentina experiences a surge in stablecoin purchases, as a response to economic instability.

Find out more

A growing number of people are using cryptocurrency investing to diversify their portfolios and perhaps make large financial profits. Find out about the top 7 tactics (along with some extra advice) for managing risk in a cryptocurrency portfolio.

Find out more

Multinational financial services giant Citibank announced on Wednesday that it is experimenting with tokenized securities on the blockchain to bolster the adoption of distributed ledger technology on Wall Street. The rules have been baked into an underlying smart contract.

Find out more

In an unprecedented shift, the global workforce is increasingly moving towards remote work, marking a significant change in how businesses operate and employees fulfill their roles. This transformation, is reshaping the landscape of work in the digital age.

Find out more

The ERC-404 token standard mixes the ERC-20 and ERC-721 tokens. It takes the best of both worlds. As it happens to be, these are by far the two most popular ERC token standards. To clarify, this is an experimental token standard.

Find out more

South Korea's struggling youth embrace cryptocurrency for hope and opportunity. The government backs the digital currency market with CBDC and STO legislation.

Find out more

In the United Kingdom, the crypto industry is facing a regulatory puzzle as industry groups push back against proposals from local regulators regarding the supervision of stablecoins.

Find out more

Blockchain technology emerges as a potential robust solution to the persistent issue of counterfeit medicines in the pharmaceutical sector. Akindeinde emphasized that blockchain's ability to serialize pharmaceutical products and assign verifiable security features.

Find out more

The Ethiopian government is set to begin mining Bitcoin through a new partnership with Data Center Service — a subsidiary of West Data Group, according to Ethiopia-based Hashlabs Mining CEO Kal Kassa.

Find out more

Crypto is a place of unprecedented equality, transparency, and opportunity. It is a land in which every wallet is treated equally and where race, gender, and orientation are immaterial. Crypto is fertile soil, a level playing field for a game that everyone is invited to play.

Find out more