

Everything Will Go Up Again

Before you know it, everything will go up again. Also, before you know it the cycle will be over. The first rate cut will trigger for round two of the bull run.

Find out more

Turkey Denies Plans to Tax Crypto, Stock Gains

Turkey has rejected proposals to levy taxes on profits from securities and cryptocurrencies, but it has proposed a “very limited” transaction tax. This move will boost crypto markets.

Find out more

Layer 2s and the Evolution of Bitcoin

The Bitcoin community has developed various layer-2 blockchains that enhance the network's efficiency and functionality without altering its core software.

Find out more

Argentina, officially called the Argentine Republic, is a country in South America. It's one of the biggest countries globally and the second largest in Latin America. In Argentina, Bitcoin isn't recognized as official money because it's not issued by the Central Bank. However, there are no rules against using it.

Find out more

Donald Trump, who as president was “not a fan” of cryptocurrencies, has in recent months made a strategic pivot to embrace Bitcoin and crypto, sensing an advantage against incumbent Joseph Biden in the 2024 election. Market spectators have made the case that a Trump victory in 2024 could ultimately turn the tides in Bitcoin's favor.

Find out more

NFT and ordinals look similar on the surface, but some claim ordinals can store value better. Ordinals are also pure data, including the image itself. NFT is seen as a problem since its metadata is often stored offline. Find out the differences, by reading the article.

Find out more

South Korea is making significant strides in regulating the rapidly evolving cryptocurrency landscape with the implementation of the Virtual Asset User Protection Law. This landmark legislation, now in effect, aims to safeguard users and ensure the integrity of the virtual asset market.

Find out more

Malaysia, a country in Southeast Asia with 32 million people and an area of 330 kilometers, is a diverse nation comprising various ethnicities and religions. While half the population is Malaysian, the rest come from different parts of the world. Its economy is robust, growing quickly, and highly competitive, making it appealing for foreign investors.

Find out more

The integration between cryptocurrency and traditional banking is growing stronger every day. As the crypto market rebounds sharply in 2023, more traders are looking to sell cryptocurrency, withdraw crypto into fiat currency, and deposit the proceeds directly into their bank accounts.

Find out more

In recent months, the fusion of cryptocurrency and artificial intelligence (AI) has become a hot topic within the blockchain community. While some enthusiasts are optimistic and actively developing projects at this intersection, others remain skeptical or unconvinced. Despite varying opinions, the momentum behind AI agents continues to grow

Find out more

This week marked a significant advancement in Argentina's embrace of blockchain technology as the Cardano Foundation partnered with Entre Ríos, a central province. The official signing ceremony between Governor Rogelio Frigerio and Cardano's Rafael Fraga caused a stir in the South American nation.

Find out more